Post Maternity Support

Eligibility	All women officers
Guidelines	To ensure a seamless transition for women officers returning to the office after maternity leave, the company will extend flexibility and support for a period of three years following their maternity leave which will include: 1. 'Support at Work' till the child attains 3 years of age: The organization will support its women officers until their child turns 3 years old. An officer in addition to the 26 weeks of maternity leave can avail of an additional 6 months of flexi hours in office/ remote working. Also, they can further opt for another 24 months of hybrid mode of work (part of a week from home), subject to the following conditions: • nature of work/ role permits the above. • reporting manager's prior approval has been obtained. • officer is stationed at her base location city. 2. Sabbatical for child support: Women officers can opt for an unpaid leave of up to 1 year in case they need a sabbatical for child support (can be availed only once during employment for a child of age less than 12 years). This will be subject to the officer having a minimum tenure of 36 months in M&M and contingent upon their commitment to refrain from moonlighting (taking up any kind of alternate employment/entrepreneurial activities). 3. Baby Care Allowance: 'Baby care Allowance' of Rs.5000 per month for all women officers having children of age up to 2 years to support baby care. 4. Anxiety-free outstation work travel: For critical work-related overnight domestic travel, women officers can travel with their child of age up to 2 years along with a caregiver, with an exception approval from their L2S and above grade leader.
Process	• The women officer needs to ensure that they have updated the details of their child on Success Factors to avail the benefits pertaining to child support within 3 months of birth of child. The benefit would be applicable from the date of birth of the child. • Travel approval request needs to be shared with admin team/travel desk with required approvals
Tax Implication	The income tax liability for an officer availing this facility will be applicable under the prevailing income tax rules. Since the government may change these rules from time to time, it will be the responsibility of the officer availing the facility to ascertain the liability before using this facility.
